against James Smith, to quiet title. George Hagemann has been made a party defendant, as guardian, with leave to plead to April 22.

Receivers F. E. Gilbert and George Metcalf, of the Columbus, Marion & Buckeye Railway company, made application in the common pleas court, Saturday, to enter into a contract with a Milwaukee firm for the purchase of additional air-brake equipment to cost $258. The application was granted by Judge Babst.

Receiver Charles L. Justice, of the Marion Manufacturing company, brought an action in the common pleas court, again Fidelia E. Sellers and Scoville S. Walker to collect $2,000 alleged assets in the former. He sets up that he caused execution to be issued on a judgment obtained in the assessment of stock holders in November. At that time the execution was returned with the information that Fidelia S. Sellers had no property on which to levy. February 1, 1907, Receiver Justice claims Mrs. Sellers purchased by written contract a lot in Houghton's first addition. The consideration proceeded from Mrs. Sellers, but the title, by deed, from William H. Houghton, was taken in the name of S. S. Walker for the purpose of avoiding the judgment. S. S. Walker, it is claimed, is the same person as the defendant, Scoville S. Walker.

An answer in the divorce suit of Bertha M. Hontz against Hessel F. Hontz has been filed in the common pleas court through Attorneys Monser & Molenor. The defendant sets up a general denial.

Judge W. E. Sodell, Monday afternoon, overruled a motion for a jury trial in the partition suit of Mary J. Leverton and others against Ellen Mack and others, and issued an order for the appointment of Thomas Graham, Sophona Mouser, Chester Thaler, Elizabeth Bryan and Ira Schoenlaub. The latter two were dismissed at the cost of the plaintiffs.

The action was brought to put upon a farm of eighty acres in Pleasant township. A number of years ago Adam Bower, who owned the farm, died leaving a widow and several children. One widow later married Thomas Graham and to them were born five children. Boyer children. Boyer children transferred their interests in the farm to their stepfather, Thomas Graham. When Mrs. Graham died her children by her first husband claimed that her dower interest in the estate belonged to them.

Judge Sodell held, however, that when Mrs. Graham died the estate vested with her.

Attorney D. Gelbert & Sons represented the plaintiffs and Attorneys Patrick Monahan and Frank Warner were counsel for the defendants.

Every scrap of meat can be utilized, and every housewife should have a copy of this bulletin, which furnishes among other things, a method of cooking tough meat so that it will be made as tender as meats now considered

NEGRO SHOT TO DEATH IN JAIL

After He Has Shot and Killed Former Sheriff.

MAKES BARRICADE IN THE BASEMENT

And He Refuses To Come Out When Ordered.

Mob Swarms into the Jail Building, Drags Out the Yet Warm Body of the Negro and Hangs Corpse. Body Cut Down, Throat Cut from Ear to Ear and Set on Fire—A Horror at Meridan in Mississippi.

Meridian, Miss, April 12.—While a mob of 2,000 men surrounded the jail demanding the life of Tom O'Neal, a negro who had shot and killed former Sheriff John Temple and then barricaded himself in the jail cellar, deputies entered the basement and shot O'Neal to death when he refused to come out.

The mob then swarmed into the jail and the negro, being hardly dead, dragged him to the street and hanged him. O'Neil throat was cut from ear to ear and the body set on fire. The deputies again interfered and stamped out the fire.

Ten other negroes were in the jail basement and George Williams was wounded when the officers fired on O'Neal. The mob has not left the jail and is clamoring for Williams.

The greatest excitement still reigns here, and it is feared George Williams, O'Neal's companion, will be lynched before the crowd can be dispersed.

Williams was behind the barricade when O'Neal was shot down by the deputy sheriff.

Hanged for Murder.

Scranton, Pa., April 11.—Shandore Fenez, was hanged at the county jail this morning for the murder of Mrs. Lizzie Horvath, in Throop, on December 21, 1908.

Jessie Is Dead.

Washington, April 11.—There is grief today at the White House, for "Jessie" is dead. "Jessie" was the Taft cow.

Shouts of "Marshall! Marshall!" were heard above the din. Even this utterance had no noticeable effect on the diminutive man. It is a touch of Jeffersonianism: "I lived before I got the job as your governor and I will try to live after I go is over."

The fact that Governor Marshall is comparatively a poor man and his marked disinclination to hear the "call" from the lips of the enjoyment of those Democrats, who, although admirers of the man, fear his presidential boom will be confined in the state.

"I believe it is all but asinine to talk of Marshall as making a race for the presidency," said one visiting Democrat here. "The time may be before the public only recently; he has not the money himself to make a race for the office, and one has not the financial resources which other candidates are known to possess.

Talks of Harmon.

"Harmon, of Ohio, boom has been known in the world of railroads and finance, and as a lawyer. Marshall, though perhaps eminently fitted and possessing deserving integrity, is of a retiring manner and thinks more of his books and his Indiana home."

Among those who today are even more enthusiastic than ever over the prospect of having the national party reach into Indiana for its 1912 standard bearer, last night's event is regarded merely as a great ovation, sparkled by John W. Kern, toastmaster at the Jefferson-day festivities, when he introduced the governor but those admirers of Marshall are confident that the ovation will have an undying effect, and will spread over the nation as a real boom for a man unhampered by the moneyed interests and who as yet has not said he will decline the nomination.

New York Day Switch.

New York, April 11—Inquiry, this afternoon, seems to indicate that New York Democrats will abide at the little boom started for Mayor Gaynor for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1912 as the result of the speech of Governor Thomas Marshall, of Indiana, at the Jefferson-day dinner in Indianapolis last night. Many feel that a Simon-pure Jeffersonian Democrat who can reunite all elements in the party and make a strong candidate for the next national campaign, has been uncovered. That Marshall is a poor man and has tied up with no factions adds to his strength, and the Democrats believe today that he is sure to be a lively rival of Judson Harmon when the next Democratic national convention assembles.

May Endorse Marshall.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 11.—The 500-shillity that the forthcoming state Democratic convention April 27 and 28, may insist on endorsing Governor Thomas R. Marshall for president, is today impelling friends of the governor to urge him not to renounce the honor in his keynote speech as temporary chairman. A RECORD BREAKING NUMBER IMMIGRANTS ARRIVING IN U. S.

New York, April 11.—Twenty-three ships are on the Atlantic ocean due to arrive in New York City by April 25 with a record breaking number of immigrants. More than 50,000 new citizens of the United States are on these ships with many thousand more on the way. During March 128,811 persons arrived in the New York port. Of this number 1,472 were detained by officials as not being subjects for the United States. Commissioner Williams says April to be a record breaking month in the history of the New York port, as over 100,000 have arrived so far and with more than 50,000 on the way. A sense of relief is the keynote of the passengers on the vessels are still to report, which may have the number of new arrivals close to the 200,000 mark. The immigrant officials say the large increase is due partly to the return of aliens who left for Europe during the panic of 1907 and who are anxious to again take up their work in America since the return of prosperity.

announced that the Democratic party stood ready to welcome all who wished to join it in the coming struggle.

One of the most significant features was the generous round of applause that followed the declaration of Francis Burton Harrison that "the governor of Ohio is the most popular man in the party."

The cheers of Hon. W. J. Bryan are keenly disappointed at the action at Toastmaster Henry D. Clayton in withholding the Bryan letter until the very last and using it as a cold demonstration.

It was 2 a. m. before John Temple Graves took the floor to deliver his message from Bryan. "If the Democratic party is ready for the principles that our league has fought for, we will unite in the forthcoming struggle," he said.

Unique System Being Considered at Present,

BY INTERNATIONAL HARVESTER PEOPLE

Goes Far Beyond Anything in World of Industry.

Will Cover Every Case Excepting That of Intoxication or Wilful Disregard of Safety Appliances and Will Entirely Eliminate the Contributory Negligence and Fellow-Servant Clause.

Chicago, April 14.—The International Harvester company, which has 25,000 employes, will adopt a system of employers' liability for injury and death of employes, said to be more liberal than that which is at present in force in any state.

It will cover every case except that of intoxication or wilful disregard of safety appliances and will eliminate entirely the contributory negligence and the fellow-servant clause of the Illinois statute applicable to such cases. This was the announcement made today

The scale of compensation provided is as follows:

In case of death there will be paid three years' average wages, but no more than $4,500 nor less than $1,500. In case of the loss of one hand or foot, one and one-half years average wages but not less than $2,000 nor more than $3,000. For the loss of both hands or both feet or one hand and one foot, four years average wages but in no event less than $2,000.

The benefits will be payable as soon as the accident occurs, according to the statement of Harold F. McCormick, vice president, who declared that the annual cost of the benefits to the company will be about a quarter of a million dollars

The employes will still retain the right to sue the company for damages until after the benefit is paid.

INVESTIGATION UP TO GOVERNOR FORT

Governor Must Call Special Session To Inquire About "Drunken Orgy"

Trenton, N. J., April 12.—Unless Governor Fort calls a special session of the New Jersey legislature there can be no official investigation of the charges that women and legislators joined in a "drunken orgy" during the all-night session that followed the final adjournment last week. Attorney General Wilson declares Senate President Frelinghuysen and Speaker Ward have not the power to name a joint committee to look into the scandal unless they are authorized by the entire legislative body so to do.

Frelinghuysen, Ward and Governor Fort conferred on the subject yesterday. None of the trio would talk pending final determination of a definite plan of action.

BREAD PRICES ARE BOOSTED BY BAKERS

In Indiana as a Result of a Law Recently Passed.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 14.—An advance of one cent a loaf on bread will be imposed July 1 by Indiana bakers as a result of a state law requiring that loaves be wrapped in tissue before removal from the bakeshops. Among Hoosier bakers here today attending the annual convention of the Association of Master Bakers, there is speculation as to the effect of a resolution adopted last night favoring the increase from five to six cents.

twelve children will be as much of a disgrace as being a confirmed drunkard, said Roosevelt.

Responsibility of Parents.

"Parents should be taught the responsibility of bringing children into the world, and they should have been taught that fully nine-tenths of the babies born every year are nothing more nor less than human outcasts. I believe the birth rate will decrease and we shall have a better and a stronger race.

"Before I leave Washington, I shall find out how many millions of dollars are being appropriated to stamp out diseases in animals and to improve the breed of horses, pigs, livestock of all kinds; everything, in fact, except the human species.

"What humanity needs is a Luther Burbank for human plants. Marriage today is but one-third marriage and that one-third physical. There is no union of the mental and spiritual."

After discoursing along this line to the suffragists here, Mrs. Baker will carry her views to New York, where she will address the Sunset club on "The Equality of the Sexes." From there she will go to Europe in an attempt to secure the meeting of the great international congress on Eugenics for the United States two years hence.

Champ Clark Boasts of Party Victories.

Suggests That President Interview Speaker Cannon as to Influence Wielded by House Minority—Also Intimates That Democrats Helped Roosevelt Out of Many a Tight Hole—Enthusiastic for Harmon.

Washington April 14 W J Bryan's letter in which he resurrects his theory of quantitative money was read at the Jefferson day dinner given by Democrats of the District of Columbia at the Willard Some of the Democrats at the dinner apparently have less faith in this quantitative theory of money than the Hon William J In fact Champ Clark the minority leader in the house said when it came his turn to speak that he did not think the increased output of gold had nearly so much to do with high prices as the tariff and the trusts

The Democrats of the District of Columbia had planned to make this Jefferson day dinner an event of national importance They had invited all the prospective presidential candidates in the party Mayor Gaynor declined in accordance with his announced intention of staying at home attending to business and then all the others followed suit The result was that the District of Columbians had a lot of letters from presidential timber but were obliged to dine with only the party leaders in congress as their guests

Harmon Sends Regrets

Governor Harmon of Ohio wrote that a legislative session with some vital propositions affecting the public interest, an early state convention and a prospective hard campaign were insurmountable obstacles to his attending The mention of Governor Harmons name by Representative Francis Burton Harrison of New York was the occasion for a great demonstration Mr Harrison referred to Governor Harmon as the most popular Democrat of the day The diners jumped up waved napkins and cheered like mad for 10 minutes It was the only real demonstration of the evening

Mr Clark said among other things 'Last Saturday night President Taft referred to the Democrats as a negligible quantity or words to that effect If he will stroll up to the south end of the capital and consult an eminent and venerable Republican of the house who occupies a high seat there Cannon as to what he thinks of the united Democrats when it comes to clipping the claws of big Republicans he will hear something to his advantage If he will consult Theodorus Aristeus he will learn what he ought to have known without consultation but almost every good measure which Theodore Roosevelt pressed upon congress would have failed of passage but for Democratic votes and many good law now enacted by this congress it will be likely by aid of Democrats"

SELLING REAL ESTATE AT A GOOD BIG PROFIT

Carl G Roecker Talks Bakery for East Church,

AND CITIZENS SHOW VERY GREAT INTEREST

Result That Roecker Sells a $2 200 Property for $3 200—Then Roecker Acquires a New Site in the Same Promising Neighborhood—Just an Incident of Marion's Growth

Mr Carl G Roecker has been in his line in East Marion for over he is still doing things and which will do next is locating a pool on his way

When Roecker moved here from Iosco several years ago and opened a bakery on south Main street he did the residents of East Marion immediately that he was soon to become a Napoleon in real estate to divide his peace individually and collectively But that is what he has become and it is necessary to mention the name of Roecker to get them going

But to go back to the beginning his story

Roecker's bakery prospered from the first He made good bread and soon he nickels and dimes came in his counter in such a steady stream that he began to have visions of real estate deals He put his profits property down on south Main street where he resides shortly after he invested in a property at the corner of Church and Elm streets He moved the house which stood on the lot turning it quarter way around to face on Elm street and let it to renters the purchase price if no mistake is said was $2 200

Soon Roecker exploded a bomb shell He announced that he would build a bakery on the front end of the lot facing on Church

A bakery on East Church street right in the heart of a beautiful residence district Suffering cats and half a dozen other things which wouldn't look good in a Sunday school publication

Full stop Why here was all

And one young woman enculted a piper the issues of which pleased himself no to buy bread made by Roecker should the bakery go up

Meanwhile Roecker sawed wood The tall died down after a time Then Roecker dumped a few stones onto the lot and the tall was renewed The thing was allowed to sleep for a spell but a few days ago Roecker put several men at work excavating for a foundation

Then matters came to a head

Chief Klinefelter of the police department who lives immediately to the east of the property thought he had better buy Colonel James F Prendergast residing just across Elm street from the Roecker property aided and abetted him in his belief Klinefelter offered $1 500 But property on that way had gone up At less the Roecker property had and Roecker said Stop fooling

Fifty two hundred was the price set by the owner

Klinefelter couldn't see the price I looked the size of a mountain to him and to his neighbors as well Pat with each shovelful of dirt thrown on the price appeared the more reasonable If not that the more payable Now note the effect

Colonel Prendergast figured that he had wood timber business had been pretty fair of late and maybe he could shove a contribution into a pool to make up the difference Judge Martin F Burkhough possibly the hardware and insurance business could stand a touch and George Frank residing just west of Burke and directly across the street from the Roecker property began to figure how many suits it would be necessary to sell to make up a helping offer Former Congressman Grant E Mouser got in on his head but the law business would justify him in loosening up and he got in on the game To make a long story short the difference was made up and Klinefelter got the property

Has Marion breathed again

The figures may be a trifle off but real estate in East Union looked good to Roecker From $1 00 to $ 500 profit on a $2 200 investment wasn't to bad He decided to invest again

H J Holerstott had a property at the corner of Center and Sargent streets just a block north and half a block west of the Roecker property Holverstot wanted an auto and told Major C C Soltz that he did and a deal was on by which Major Soltz got the property That was April 1

One day last week Soltz sold the property to Mr Roecker and once more there was talk of the erection of a bakery

And now the Sargent Rapp Merkels Guthery Taylors and other residents of east Center are throwing the fits and doing the ground and lofty vocal tumbling performed in months past by the Church street people

Meanwhile Mr Roecker is again engaged in piddling sawing wood He is no longer in the bakery business having sold his business to his brother But his mind centers on real estate deals and he has a sort of an idea that a cement block bakery and cake factory out that way would add to the attractiveness of the vicinity Even if he has no such idea he resides out that way think he has And that amounts to the same thing

Terse Comments Upon the Christian Endeavor Topic for April 17 — Good Cheer in Dark Days' Acts 27 20 36

Optimism is almost a dead nowadays Men are exhorting one another to be resolute to be glad Good cheer is even the object of certain organizations Nevertheless when one has perused a mass of literature upon this modern optimism he yet finds something lacking That something is a sufficient ground and source of optimism This fact is not felt in the Bible teaching of joy For the scriptures make God himself the mainspring of confidence and gladness The Psalmist cried Why art thou cast down, O my soul? Hope thou in God

God hastens to teach Every hardship that he sends is a message of love There is a very sweet thought in the Greek word that is translated chasten It primarily means to teach to instruct and its root is the word child To chasten is to deal with as a child Thus Paul says Have endure chastening God dealeth with you as with sons And remember in this connection, that like as a father pitieth his children so the Lord pitieth them that fear Him For he knoweth our frame He remembereth that we are dust

The apostle points us to Christ and the cross and bids us consider Him And just here is the sovereign strength in all our hard experiences We are to think on Jesus and the extent of His hardships Measure our little trials beside His immeasurable sorrows they become as nothing and we rejoice to be permitted to bear our small crosses in imitation of Him and for His dear sake

There is no hard place in life that has not been made soft and sacred for the Christian by the touch of the Saviour's life He walked the sorrowful way done that we might have his companionship as we journey it

THE EXPENSE VOUCHERS OF DEPUTY J. B. LENTZ

Show Originality in Making Some Charges Against the State.

LENTZ GOOD FEEDER AND TRAVELED MUCH

Facts Taken from a Public Record Show a Story Unparalleled in the Revelations of Graft Probing. Lentz Promised To Return $463.25 to the State Treasury.

Columbus, April 12.—The examination by the Beatty Probe committee into the administration of State Fire Marshal Zuber, the Harmon appointee, on last Wednesday was limited, so far as Mr. Zuber personally was concerned, to his admission that he had signed the vouchers for the expense accounts of his first deputy, Mr. Irving B. Lentz. These vouchers showed that Mr. Lentz could be amusing, and that his partner in insurance and political business, David Staley Creamer, was his exemplar. The behavior of a pig in his first experience in clover may be amusing and a man prone to political mistakes may be taken as an exemplar.

The duty of the first deputy in every state or county office is to stay at the big desk which is the clearing house for everything that goes in or out of the department. He has no peripatetic duties—perhaps the word "peripatetic" is misused as applied to Mr. Lentz because he didn't walk, but took street cars and charged the expense—but the story told by the 600 and more charges collected from the state, which Mr. Lentz in contrition promised to refund, covers the political arena of Belmont county.

Lentz Follows Exemplar.

Mr Lentz, like his exemplar, on being sworn into office, charged his expenses of the day before in coming to Columbus to accept a state job, although so impatient to reach the capital that he drove at midnight and at a cost to the state of $3.50, to Wheeling in order to get on a Columbus train which was faster than the 6 a m train which stopped at St. Clairsville. He arrived at Columbus on Saturday and was the guest of the state until Monday, when he returned to his home village for three days to close out the insurance business which had been built up by Creamer & Lentz.

For seven months his vouchers show that he like Creamer, spent most of his Sundays on his native heath at state expense, leaving Columbus early enough on Saturday to get a $1.10 dinner on the palace car and making the return trip in time to get supper in the diner on Monday. But he did not, like Creamer, swear that each of his Sunday visits to St. Clairsville was made officially to investigate a suspicious fire. It would have been unwise to have so sworn because Creamer has been confronted with his own annual report which showed that during the year in which the trips were made there had been no incendiary fires reported from St. Clairsville or Belmont county.

Belmont Shy on Fires.

Mr. Lentz did claim to have made some of his trips for the purpose of investigating fires, but the fact is that the fire marshal's report shows that Belmont county has from thirty-eight to forty fires a year from all causes and that St. Clairsville, having 1,600 of the 90,000 population of Belmont county, would be entitled to but two-thirds of a fire a year. Under the fire marshal law the chief of fire department, or if there be none the mayor must investigate the origin and circumstances of a fire, if one should occur, and report it to the assistant fire marshal. Hamilton Glass is assistant in charge of eight counties with headquarters at Flushing, twelve miles away. It would be his duty to investigate a fire, if the fire chief or mayor reported it suspicious.

Lentz Is Frank.

It should be said in Mr Lentz's favor that he showed a frankness superior to that of Creamer when he charged the state for expenses to a Democratic conference he made no detour. Mr Creamer when attending the Democratic county convention at St. Clairsville, charged the state for three days' expenses on a trip to Bellaire, ten miles away, when attending the congressional convention at Steubenville he charged railway fare to Bellaire and return, and $4.00 spent in Steubenville on the day of the convention was charged as $4 00 for that day in Bellaire.

Mr. Lentz's charges during the three days he was at home to vote were quite reasonable.

Mr. Lentz, however, showed an originality in making charges against the state which exceed that of Creamer, who had previously held the record. This brings on a story unparalleled in the revelations of the graft probing, although he is but a novitiate in a position of public trust.

Lentz a Good Feeder.

On August 14, Mr. Lentz ate a dollar-and-ten-cent dinner on a train to Barnesville and in that village secure one dollar's worth of lodging; on the next morning, Sunday, after a fifty-cent breakfast, he paid $3.50 to a livery man for taking him to his father's farm house near Lloydsville. He there charged one dollar for horse-feed and seventy cents for food for the driver The state was charged turnpike toll, too. Three days later his diary of items paid for him in vouchers uttered by Mr. Zuber show that he returned from Lamira to Columbus.

The items in regard to horse-feed and food for the driver are not quoted with intent to reflect upon the quality of the hospitality of the paternal Lentz.

Having in mind doubtless the biblical injunction not to muzzle the ox that treads out the corn, this youth, still using as his exemplar his political patron, Mr. Creamer, paid his board from state funds while working at his big desk. Every day he charged a dollar for lodging, an irregular price for meals, and street car tickets at seven for a quarter

Mr. Lentz promised to return $463.25 to the state treasury.

The foregoing facts having been taken from a public record and reproduced in testimony under oath cannot be controverted.

"A beggar mounted rides his horse to death."

THE MODERN JEKYLL-HYDE MURDERER AND ROBBER, B. G. SPENCER.

Springfield, Mass., April 9.—The amazing confession of B. G. Spencer to the murder of Miss Martha B. Block tone and the serious wounding of Miss Harriet P. Dow while he was robbing Miss Blackstone's home furnishes a remarkable link in criminal history Spencer is well educated, and, while acting as a clerk, he was fitted for a better position He was considered an ideal husband and father and was welcomed to the best social circles of Springfield When a boy, according to his confession he was hit on the head, and ever since then he has had a desire to rob homes He liked to talk to his victims which are numbered by the scores, until he became known as the talking burglar" Before completing a robbery he would ask the victim how he felt and would chuckle with glee if he stammered or showed any sign of fear His greatest joy came when he would read of the accounts in the papers, and he would discuss the robberies with friends, always declaring the robber must be a clever fellow. When he killed Miss Blackstone he told the police that he did not expect to add murder to his long list of crimes Spencer's parents were astonished, as was his wife, when his Jekyll-Hyde life was revealed.

FAMOUS BARITONE SINGER WILL APPEAR IN THIS CITY

Oley Speaks at St. Paul's Parish-House Next Tuesday Night.

Is Widely Known as a Singer and Composer in the United States and England—Has Written More Than Fifty Ballads.

Oley Speaks, the well-known baritone, will give a recital in the parish-house of St. Paul's Episcopal church, next Tuesday evening at 8 15 o'clock. His appearance here will be welcome news to Marion lovers of good singing.

Mr. Speaks is not only widely known as a vocalist, but as a composer as well. For a number of years he was the soloist in the celebrated St. Thomas' Episcopal church, on Fifth avenue, New York City. He has appeared in many of the leading cities of the country, either in recital or oratorio. As a composer, he is known both in the United States and England, having written more than fifty ballads, which are much sung in both countries. His songs are used by many of the prominent singers of the English-speaking race, and in his recital here he will include in the program a group of his most noted compositions.

The Brooklyn Eagle, of a recent appearance of Mr. Speaks in that city, says.

"The honors of the evening belong to the singer-composer, Oley Speaks. Mr. Speaks is by all odds the most finished baritone that has appeared in Wissner hall. His voice is of great compass and lucidity, and his tone placement most perfect."

The musical season in Marion has been particularly devoid of concerts this year, and Mr. Speaks doubtless will be greeted by a large audience.

Thomas S Collins, one of the leading pianists of Columbus, will play the accompaniments at the recital.

Regrettable, Don'tcherknow?

"These exchange editors make me tired," exclaimed the self-worshiping poet. "Here they are crediting a poem of mine to some fellow named Byron."

SUNDAY SCHOOLS OF REFORMED CHURCH

Meet in Annual Convention Down at Prospect.

AN UNUSUALLY FINE PROGRAM FOLLOWED

S. H. Keller, of This City, Is Chosen President To Serve for the Ensuing Year—Reports Show That All the Schools Are Doing Fine Work and Making Progress.

The fourth annual Sunday-school convention of the eastern section of the Heidelberg classis, Central Synod of the Reformed chuch, was held at Prospect, Tuesday afternoon and evening. Over 200 delegates were in attendance at the meeting, Marion, Galion, Crestline, Bucyrus, Upper Sandusky, Prospect, Carrothers, Whetstone, Clyde and several other places being represented at the convention. The Marion delegation alone numbered fifty-four.

The convention opened at 1:30 o'clock with a piano solo by Miss Hazel Zieg, of Marion. It was followed by a song service, led by L. C. Heinlen, of Bucyrus. The address of welcome was made by Rev. W. E. Huckeriede, of Prospect, and was responded to by S. H. Keller, of Marion, president of the convention.

Following the devotional exercises, led by Rev. W E. Huckeriede, and a song service, Rev. I. Rothenberger, of Galion, delivered an interesting address on "The Sunday-school Teacher." A general discussion of the address followed.

Howard Keller, of Bucyrus, contributed a cornet solo with piano accompaniment. The nominating and resolution committees were then appointed, the committees being composed as follows:

Committees Named.

Nominating—A. C. Queen, Misses Marie Streib, Vivian Knickle, Louisa Bermuth and Hilda Klopp.

Resolutions—C. F. Limbach, Mrs. S. C. Hurr, Miss Dora Neidhart, Miss Lydia Marcus and Mr. Kinley.

An intermission was held and social greetings exchanged, after which Miss Hazel Zieg contributed a piano solo

Five-minute round-table talks were then made by Rev F E. Zechiel, on "Graded School and Graded Work;" A C. Queen, on "The Value of Decision Day;" C. R. Snyder, on "Mission Work in the Sunday-School;" S. H. Keller, on "Should the Superintendent Teach a Class?;" Miss Lilly Mueller, on "The Value of the Cradle Roll," and Miss Mary Loyer, on "The Value of the Home Department."

Reports from each Sunday-school were then made, all of the schools showing an increase in enrollment and progression in various lines. The report of the trasurer of the convention showed it to be in good financial condition.

The Officers Chosen.

The committee on nominations then reported and the officers were elected for the year as follows:

S. H. Keller, of Marion, president; C F Limbach, of Crestline, vice president; Miss Dorothy Shuls, of Galion, secretary; Howard Keller, of Bucyrus, treasurer.

The offering, a song and prayer closed the afternoon session after which the delegates were served supper in the church.

The session re-opened at 7 o'clock in the evening with a song service led by L. C. Heinlen, of Bucyrus. Devotional exercises were led by Rev. I Rothenberger, of Galion, and were followed by a selection by the Hurr-Neidhart quartet and a congregational song. "What Can We Do To Keep the Boy in the Sunday-School?" was the subject of an excellent address by C. F. Limbach, of Bucyrus After a piano duet, Rev. F E Zechiel, of Marion, delivered an address on the subject, "The King's Business—Our Motto." The report of the resolution committee was then made, a song was rendered, and the convention came to a close with the pronouncing of the benediction.

It was decided to hold the convention next April in Upper Sandusky, the exact dates not being known.

Hate and Love.

We hate each other because we are ignorant of each other. Mutual understanding tends to mutual good will and peace. Our steamships, railroads, automobiles, telegraphs and telephones, by annihilating the distance between men and by means of the interchange of thought and knowledge that they afford, are fast creating the dominion of a large human confidence and love.—Rev. Thomas B. Gregory.

Ink for Monuments.

An excellent permanent ink for monuments and tombstones is made by mixing together one pound of lampblack and ten pounds of pitch, with sufficient turpentine to make a liquid of about the same consistency as paint.

Literature.

Literature gives life to the ideas of the moment, and poetry crystalizes ideas into forms that can be remembered.

WOMAN OBTAINS GOODS UNDER FALSE PRETENSES

That's the Charge Upon Which She Is Held.

CLAIMS THAT SHE IS FROM RICHWOOD

Denman & Jenner, Mrs. Robert Driscoll and Frank Brothers & Company Are Among the Local Business Houses Said To Have Been Worked by Her.

Mrs. Thomas Jenkins, who claims Richwood as her home, is confined in a cell of the city prison on a charge of obtaining goods under false pretenses. Wednesday morning, the woman entered the store of Denman & Jenner, on west Center street, picked out a skirt, waist and belt and asked to take the goods on approval. She gave the clerk an assumed name and stated that he was going to a residence on Oliver avenue where the woman was to consider the articles taken out by her. The bill amounted to $6.25.

The women's haste in leaving the store aroused the suspicions of the clerks and the proprietor. One of the clerks informed Mr. Jenner that the woman was the same one who had secured some goods about a year ago in the same manner and failed to return them. After the woman left the store she was watched by the proprietor. She started on a run for the Union station, and was about to board Erie train No. 3 for Richwood when Jenner aproached her and demanded the return of the package. The woman complied with the request without hesitancy, and then boarded the train.

Jenner then reported the occurrence to Chief Klinetelter who communicated with the marshall at Richwood to be on the lookout for the woman.

Wednesday evening the chief received a telephone message from Richwood stating that the woman boarded Erie train No. 4 to return to Marion. The chief and Officer Thompson met the train at the station and when the woman alighted she was placed under arrest. She did not question the officers as to the cause of her arrest, and apparently knew for what she was wanted. She did not talk concerning the offense for which she is being held nor does she offer an excuse.

About a year ago the Jenkins woman secured a dress and several small articles at the Jenner store and had them sent to her assumed address, and in this manner got away with the goods. At the same time she secured a hat in the same manner at the millinery store of Mrs. Robert Driscoll, on west Center street. The hat was later found by Captain Bond when a search was made at the home of Joseph Hoffman, on Mill street, where the woman was stopping. The proprietor of the millinery store did not care to have the hat back after it had been worn, and did not go to the trouble of prosecuting the woman.

Thursday G. E. Frank, of the firm of Frank Brothers & Company, appeared at the station with C. E. Gompf, justice of the peace. Both identified the woman as the same who had secured a bill of goods in a similar manner at the Frank store last August. The woman was apprehended in this case and taken before the justice where she signed a written statement to pay the amount of the bill within a few days, but she failed to carry out the terms of the agreement. The justice ordered the chief to hold the woman to answer to a charge in his court after she is dealt with by the mayor on the charge to be placed against her for Wednesday's offense.

The Jenkins woman was arraigned before the mayor, Thursday, and fined $25 and the costs in the case, and sentenced to thirty days in the Columbus workhouse.

AGED WIFE OF A FARMER BECOMES HUMAN TORCH

Horrible Fate Befalls Mrs. David Ziegenful Wednesday,

WHILE ENGAGED IN MAKING SOAP

Dress Catches Fire from the Blaze Under the Kettle—Two of Her Daughters Hear Her Screams and Go to Her Assistance—One of Them Is Badly Injured.

Martel, April 14.—[Special.]—Mrs. David Ziegenful, aged sixty-five years, died at her home, five miles northeast of here, the victim of a terrible accident. The unfortunate woman was engaged in making soap about 9:30 o'clock, Wednesday morning, when in some manner her clothing caught fire and she was so badly burned before help arrived that she died in the afternoon at 1:10 o'clock.

Mrs. Ziegenful was in the yard back of her home making soap and using shingles for fuel. Her daughters, Lena and Jennie, were upstairs cleaning house, and a short time before the accident had brought a carpet down and hung it on the clothesline and then returned to their work. While they were in the yard, they noticed their mother picking up shingles and placing them in her apron. Shortly after they had gone upstairs they heard her screams, and, rushing down, met her running toward the house a mass of flames.

Endeavor To Smother Flames.

Tearing the carpet from the line the frantic daughters endeavored to smother the flames, but they had gotten such a start that the carpet was consumed and the poor unfortunate woman burned to a crisp, the only wearing apparel left on her body being her shoes. She was so badly burned as to be unrecognizable, some of the flesh having fallen from her face.

Dr. Orr of Winchester was hastily summoned and arrived soon, but was not able to save her life, and she died from the effects of her burns as stated.

The daughter, Jennie, burned her hands and arms to the elbows in an endeavor to save her mother's life. Had not been that her sleeves were rolled to her elbows it is feared she would have met the same fate as her mother.

Active Church Worker.

The deceased is survived by her husband and three daughters Lena and Jennie live at home, and Mrs. Lizzie Oman, of Mansfield. She also leaves sisters, two living at Ashley and one brother.

Mrs. Ziegenful was an active member of the Windfall German Reformed church and lived in this vicinity all her life. She was a good woman and had a host of friends who will be shocked to learn of her sad death.

The funeral will be held from the Windfall German Reformed church Friday morning at 10 o'clock, Rev. James Burkholder officiating. Remains will be laid to rest in the church burial ground.

Disease Attacks Sheep.

State Veterinarian Paul Fisher says that one-third the Ohio counties are being rapidly swept with hoof and mouth disease. The state live stock commissioner says it has no funds with which to fight the epidemic. One farmer in Lucasville, Scioto county, has lost 150 and can save only 500 sheep recently purchased.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

MEN WHO ATTEMPT THE PENNSYLVANIA HOLD-UP

Related in the Star of Wednesday Evening,

WORK FOR A TIME IN THE LOCAL YARDS

They Are Placed Under Arrest by Detective Edward Masterson and Detective Crawford in Galion and Confess That They Are the Men Wanted—A Companion.

Charles Groves and C. F. Brennan, alleged to have attempted the robbery of the express car on Pennsylvania passenger, No. 444, north of Bucyrus, Tuesday evening, and who were placed under arrest at Galion, Wednesday afternoon, were employed in the local Erie yards for the past week, according to their confession made to the officers at Galion, after their arrest.

The officers are contemplating bringing the men to this city for trial.

Just as the passenger was leaving Bucyrus, Tuesday evening, as stated in Wednesday's Star, Conductor C. O. Williams saw two men leap from the darkness and board the train. He notified the brakeman, who went immediately to the express car and upon his arrival, the men were found breaking in the door. They turned upon him, and a fight ensued. Express Messenger Pond came to the assistance of the brakeman and the two men fought with the would-be robbers for considerable time. The passengers on the train were entirely ignorant of the fact that a terrific battle was being waged in the express car.

Both Brakeman Boals and Express Messenger Pond were quite badly injured in the fight, the former being rendered partially unconscious.

Robbers Fear Passengers.

Fearing that the passengers would hear the struggle, one of the robbers pulled the bell cord. As the signal to stop was given, Conductor Williams came on the scene. The men leaped from the train as it neared Brandywine and disappeared in the darkness.

In the investigation, which was made, considerable difficulty was experienced in gaining trace of the men. The Galion police learned of the affair, and kept watch on two men who were seen there, who appeared to have participated in a fight. It was later learned that the men were those wanted, and Detective Edward Masterson of this city, and Detective Crawford were summoned there and placed the men under arrest. These officers had a good description of the men from the trainmen and had little difficulty in identifying them. Masterson learned of the affair shortly after it occurred. A third man, who was with the robbers before the fight, is said to have returned to this city, and no trace of him has yet been found.

When the men were interviewed by the officers, they said that they had been in the express car and that they had gone to Bucyrus from Marion, where they had been employed in the Erie yards for the past eight days. They stated that they drank freely at Bucyrus and they seemed to know little as to what occurred. They could not say who pulled the bell cord.

Brennan carried a trainman's card, and said that he and his companion expected to secure employment in the railroad yards of the B. & O. railroad at Sandusky.

Pennsylvania Detective Edward Masterson was in this city, Thursday morning, and when seen regarding the matter stated that definite charges will be filed against the men soon. One of the men was a member of the Brotherhood of Railway Telegraphers. Masterson stated that the men were "boomers" trainmen and had gone to Bucyrus from this city, Monday afternoon.

COOK'S RECORDS ARE NOT FOUND

Reposing at the Top of Mount McKinley.

THAT'S THE REPORT HAD FROM ALASKA

Received at Seattle from the Town of Fairbanks.

The Fairbanks Mount McKinley Expedition, Organized by Practical Alaskan Explorers, Succeeds in Climbing to the Top of the Continent in a Month, but Fails To Find Cook's Records.

Seattle, Wash., April 12—Word reached here from Fairbanks, Alaska, that the Fairbanks Mount McKinley expedition, organized by practical Alaskan explorers, has succeeded in climbing to the top of Mount McKinley. They required one month to make the ascent.

The party reports that they found no trace of the records which Dr. Cook claims he left at the top of the continent.

Thomas Lloyd who headed the expedition, brought the story to Fairbanks. He declared that he was accompanied to the summit by Daniel Patterson, Charles McGonnigle and W. R. Taylor. They declared that the climb was by no means as difficult as they had anticipated, the worst pull of all being the struggle between the 9,000 and the 12,000 foot mark.

Aided by Cold Weather.

The big fight was made easier by the cold weather, the snow crust being so thick that they were able to get their supplies from point to point without any danger of a slide. They have been at the self-appointed task since December 22 and every move upward was made most carefully. First a permanent camp was established at the base. From that point they worked upward by the worn trails until the 12,000 foot mark was reached. At this point the last camp was located and everything necessary for the final struggle into the clouds made ready.

The men roped themselves together and were fortunate to find a crevice which extended in a zigzag fashion to the apex of the giant mountain. Up through it they laboriously climbed.

They had two or three minor mishaps, but their climbing irons, manufactured by Lloyd, held tight and they managed to prevent a serious fall.

At the top of the mountain they made a careful and painstaking search for the records which Dr. Cook said he left there, but they found no trace that would indicate anyone has ever preceded them to the summit.

RUNAWAY GIRLS REACH COLUMBUS

Hungry, Footsore and Weary After Walking Twenty-Five Miles.

Columbus, O., April 12—Hungry, footsore and covered with dust after walking nearly twenty-five miles during the night, the eight girls who escaped from the Girls' Industrial school near Delaware arrived in Columbus at 6 o'clock this morning.

"I don't know why we ran away from the home," explained the girls. "Somebody left the door between the hall and the kitchen unlocked. One of the girls had a key, and unlocked our rooms and we just started away."

The eight kept together until they neared Columbus, and when within six miles of the city and it was daylight they separated, taking different routes, fearing that such a feminine aggregation would cause comment and then apprehension.

Three of the girls gave out when they reached the bridge over the Olentangy river, and they stopped to rest. The flying squadron police car, Reisland and Winkler, arrested them.

About the same time Policeman James caught two near the North market and they were used as a decoy to get another whom they had promised to meet later in the day. One of the attendants from the institution caught the other two runaways.

Pine Bluff, Ark., April 12—A tornado carrying with it many concrete trees and timber swept away the southeastern suburbs of Pine Bluff. Homes of merchants, stores, out houses and other buildings were demolished, trees uprooted, fences blown away and other damage done to property of telephone and telegraph companies.

A woman was blown from her home and carried into the air. She was caught in telephone wires and was rescued uninjured. Mrs. H. Dugan was thrown about in her home when the building was blown from its foundations, but she will survive her injuries. Several negro families had narrow escapes.

DISTRICT FIGHT NARROWS DOWN

Cole To Have but One Opponent in Congressional Primary.

Belpre, O., April 12—It is announced here that all of the anti-Cole candidates for the Republican nomination for congress in the Eighth district have withdrawn from the race in favor of Professor Frank B. Willis of Ada, who will make the race against Congressman Ralph Cole of Findlay. Cole and Willis were rivals for honors in the legislature and each is the author of a taxation measure. They have opposed each other for congress three times, Cole winning every time in conventions.

SUPREME COURT PLAYS POLITICS

Drops a Pebble into Muddy Pool Monday.

BY DECISION IN TRUST MATTERS

That Cases Must Be Released by the Court.

This Is the After-Day Reflection of the Republicans in Washington. It Is the Hope of the Administration To Secure Findings in the Standard Oil and Tobacco Trust Cases Before Campaign.

Washington, April 12—From its dignified height, the supreme court of the United States has flipped a pebble into the pool of politics.

This is the after-day reflection of Republicans here, following the court's decision yesterday to grant a rehearing in the tobacco and Standard Oil suits. Of necessity, this postpones final determination of these cases, as well as of the Sherman anti-trust law itself until some day after the elections next November.

The administration had banked on the certainty of securing a favorable decision in its two biggest trust-busting attempts. Republican congressional campaign managers were holding the presses on their literature awaiting a chance to put into print that legend, "We point with pride to the aggressive successful campaign against monopolies carried on under this administration."

—But yesterday's decision leaves them up in the air. And the final outcome is by no means certain. The trusts have not yet been busted and nothing can be done in the way of enactment of a more drastic anti-trust law until the supreme court passes on the present statute.

Following is the list from which President Taft is endeavoring to select a supreme court justice to succeed the late Justice Brewer:

Governor Hughes of New York.

Judge Van De Vanter of Wyoming.

Solicitor General Lloyd W. Bowers of the department of justice.

Judges Hook and Sanborn of the Eighth federal circuit.

Judges Hiscock, Andrews, Tomlins and Crane, of the New York supreme court.

Judge Swayze of the supreme court of Iowa.

Governor Hughes and Judge Van De Vanter seem to be the favorites in the large field.

CANNON UTTERS HIS CHALLENGE

To the House Insurgents and Democrats Monday.

TAKING FLOOR, HE SHAKES HIS FIST

Says He Will Preside Over House Till March 4.

Champ Clark, Minority Leader, Is Answered Hotly by "Uncle Joe." Thunderous Applause Follows Argument—Critical Press and Headlines Scored—Claims Tariff Bill Has Already Brought an Increase.

Washington, April 12—Defiance to the insurgents was hurled by Speaker Cannon on the floor of the house Monday afternoon.

Cannon challenged them and the Democrats to remove him from office and declared that it was more than an even chance that the coming election would continue the control of the real Republicans in the house.

The occasion for Uncle Joe's outburst was the refusal of the house to accept a senate amendment to the legislative bill granting an appropriation of $2,500 for the speaker's automobile by a vote of 132 to 111.

Twenty-two insurgents had voted with the Democrats against the conference report containing the appropriation.

Champ Clark, minority leader, had taken advantage of the opportunity to predict a Democratic victory at the polls, and said that so far as he was concerned he was willing to serve his country for $1,000, $5,000 or $7,000 or even nothing.

Cannon Takes Floor.

After Champ Clark's speech, Cannon walked out on the floor, and shaking his fist in the faces of the insurgents, said:

"I want to notify you that unless the Republicans on this side of the house who do not approve personally of the speaker have the courage to join the minority and remove him, I will remain as presiding officer of this house until March 4."

This speech was greeted with wild applause from the regulars.

"I do not ask," continued Cannon, "and I have never asked for an appropriation for transportation. If you vote for it, I will use it. If you see proper not to do so from the standpoint of economy or personal dislike, I care not."

"It is some months until November," Cannon shouted at Clark. "By the aid of a critical press by the aid of false news and head lines that rarely tell the truth—and the head lines frequently give the lie to the dispatches—I now say to you, sir, that there is more than even chances when November comes. And you will wake up on the day of election to find that an intelligent citizenship of a great republic has proved you again a false prophet as you have been proved a false one for the last decade."

Thunderous Applause.

Thunderous applause, the banging of desks and shouts, yells and rounds of handclapping followed this climax.

Cannon then referred to the campaign issues and dwelt principally on the tariff.

"The bill," Cannon said, "has already brought in an increase in the revenues of more than $50,000,000. By the aid of the press public sentiment has been worked up, but conditions are changing as the result of this new tariff law and wages are advancing.

"This whole controversy regarding an automobile for the speaker has not been inspired or encouraged or approved of by the present occupant of the chair," said Uncle Joe. "As an individual I did not receive my approval."

Continuing, the speaker related how the speaker's salary has been increased from time to time and the efforts made to reduce it.

Advocates No Reduction.

"I have never advocated that to Speaker Cannon," said. "And I look in the eyes of the gentleman from Missouri, who has notified us he will soon go out of here, and I know he hopes to become speaker of the house—he hasn't said it but we read it in his eyes. He will be the same honorable gentleman then as he is now if that is so. And I shall then, if I have the honor to be a member in it, say the speaker's salary shall be $12,000.

FRANK B. WILLIS

Ada Professor Who Will Again Seek Cole's Seat In Congress.

If the gentleman from Missouri is correct and the minority becomes the majority and whether the caucus shall choose another than myself as speaker whether that may be true or no I believe that the speaker of the house whoever he may be, shall in all matters be of the same party as the vice president."

The house then voted to send the bill back to conference.

RECORD OF TAFT ADMINISTRATION

Importance of Presenting It Now Being Recognized,

BY CONGRESSMEN UP FOR REELECTION

The Recommendations of Taft Have Been Many.

What He Has Suggested and What Congress Has Done Are Bound To Be Compared and Thus a Line on the Fealty of Congressmen to the Administration Policies Will Be Obtained by Voters.

Washington, April 12—With the record of the Taft administration about to be tested under the fire of a national campaign the men whose return to congress is dependent upon the issue of whether Taft has done much, or little, or nothing, are beginning to realize the importance of presenting to their constituents a picture of the administration as they would have it seem.

Congress is also making a record that will figure in the contest and, generally, the two records will be blended for good or ill in the popular mind as the report of the administration to the people.

In some quarters friendly to the president there seems to be a disposition to count the deeds of congress, regarded as being good, to the credit of the administration, and to charge to congress alone any sins that may be committed by congress.

An instance was the speech of Attorney General Wickersham at Chicago, in which he placed the tariff law first in the list of administration achievements and said it was enacted largely through the efforts of the president. Further along he said:

"If the second session of the sixty-second congress should adjourn without having made good those party pledges, upon the Republican majority in congress, and not upon the president, would the responsibility rest for that breach of faith?"

What Taft Has Done.

In the framing of the tariff law, the influence of the president was largely if not chiefly responsible for placing hides and oil on the free list and lowering of the duty on leather, shoes, coal and lumber, creating a tariff board, the taxing of corporations, the maximum and minimum tariff rate section and practically free trade with the Philippines.

Taft has recommended to congress the passage of laws to amend the interstate commerce law, to issue national charters to a certain class of corporations, to establish postal savings banks, to broaden the liability of employers for injuries received by employes, nine bills to promote the conservation of natural resources, to create a national health bureau, publicity of campaign contributions, to amend the law relating to injunctions, to increase the price paid by magazine publishers whose publications are now sent through the mails as second-class matter, statehood for Arizona and New Mexico and to issue $30,000,000 worth of government certificates to complete reclamation projects.

Bills on all these subjects are pending in congress. None has become a law.

Foreign Relations.

In the matter of foreign relations the administration has been chiefly engaged in an effort to advance American interests in the Orient. The administration has continued the prosecution of the oil, tobacco and sugar trusts, begun by President Roosevelt.

Under Taft's direction he customs frauds of the sugar trust were unearthed in New York, the result being an addition of $2,000,000 in payment of penalties to the United States treasury, the returning of 100 indictments and the conviction of forty-one men.

Estimates for the expenditures of the year were $1,000,000 less than the amount appropriated by congress for this year's expenses.

Criticisms of the administration are based largely on the claim that the president would have obtained more revision of the tariff downward, but [illegible] Boston in defense of Aldrich and at Winona in praise of the tariff law, the Nicaraguan affair, the Ballinger conservation policy and the charge that his interstate commerce bill contained sections making important concessions to the railroads.

HALLEY'S COMET TO BE VISIBLE FRIDAY

By the Ordinary Observer Whose Eyes Are Not Trained.

Washington, April 12—Officials of the Georgetown university observatory today announced that 1:30 o'clock on the morning of Friday, April 15, would be about the earliest date on which the untrained observer could plainly make out Halley's comet.

During all the latter part of April and the early part of May the comet will be visible in the east, just before sunrise a few degrees north of east. By May 17 it will be so nearly in line with the sun that it cannot be seen in the morning, but from then on it will appear in the west in the evening as soon as darkness comes on. On May 20 it will set two hours after the sun, with the interval of setting growing longer each evening.

FORTUNE CLAIMANT CLOSE TO PRISON

Branded as an Imposter and Denied His Claim by Judge.

Boston, April 12—Branded as an imposter in his claim for the identity and fortune of Daniel Russell, of Melrose, Daniel B. Lake Russell Dickinson, North Dakota rancher, who has been fighting in court here for weeks, was brought close to prison doors here today when Judge Lawton absolutely denied his claim. The decision caused consternation among hundreds of the residents of Melrose, who thronged the court and who had recognized the claimant as the real Danny Russell who vanished from Melrose fifteen years ago.

A MILLIONAIRE PHILANTHROPIST

Proved To Be a Former Notorious Criminal.

UNMASKED BY HERR LEBIUS

A Socialist Leader of the City of Dresden.

Charles May, the Millionaire in Question Is the Intimate Friend of the King of Saxony—A Second Jean Valjean, Who Attempts To Obliterate Prison Records by a Life of Uprightness.

Berlin, April 12—Charles May, a millionaire philanthropist of Dresden, author of religious books and stories for children, intimate friend of the king of Saxony and a leader in the social life of Dresden, was proved in a Berlin court today to be a notorious criminal whose law-breaking exploits startled all Germany forty years ago.

It was shown that he had undergone two prison terms, one from 1870 to 1878, and had been the chief of a band of robbers and desperadoes whose violence terrorized the whole of Saxony. Other members of May's band were convicted of murders, of which it is now believed May was the instigator.

The unmasking of May who for a score of years had kept his identity concealed and had been living to compensate for his dark past by living a life that almost rivaled Jean Valjean's in its good deeds, was the work of Herr Lebius, the Socialist leader of Dresden and president of the Dresden trades unions.

Lebius recognized May and openly attacked him, demanding that he be thrown out of Dresden as a moral leper. May denied the accusations, and to strengthen his denial, which was generally accepted, he brought a libel suit against Lebius, which was concluded today with a verdict for Lebius, the judges declaring that he had produced conclusive proof of every one of his charges.

May collapsed and wept like a child when the judgment was announced. A great number of friends, who accompanied May to court confident of a triumphant acquittal, were dumbfounded at the verdict. They deserted May after the verdict, refusing to have anything to do with him.

WALL STREET IS IN GOOD HUMOR

Postponement of Trust Decision Pleases Speculators.

THE STOCKS TAKE A SUDDEN JUMP

Bull Market Is Predicted by the Operators.

As a Result of a Prophecy That Standard Oil and Tobacco Suits Will Not Be Settled Till First of Next Year—If Crop Reports Are Favorable There Will Be No Keeping Down of Stocks.

New York, April 12—The news from Washington that there would be a rehearing of the Standard Oil and tobacco cases was well received in Wall street and the stock market leaped upward. Then there was slight recession and this was followed by another upward spurt. The general opinion of the street was that business would now boom for a while at least.

The fact that the rehearing will probably go over until fall means that a decision is hardly likely before the first of next year. Then the street felt more safe as it argued that the court was divided, probably 4 to 4, neither side of the litigation having a constitutional majority. The new man to be appointed, it was argued may not care for the extreme construction placed on the Sherman law by the lower courts and the result was that the speculative interests believe a bull market more than probable.

Crop Reports a Factor.

It was made plain by the experts that if the crop reports are favorable prices will go up and the market will boom for some time. Money has been idle waiting for the tobacco decision and now money must be invested. Not in years has Wall street felt better over its prospects, and this feeling will openly be expressed by many of the big market men. Any litigation affecting the United States Steel or any of the other big corporations will now go over until the tobacco and oil cases are finally disposed of.

CIVIL WAR VETERANS TO BE GONE IN 1928

They Are Told This by Directors of the Chicago Library.

Chicago, April 12—Civil war veterans of Chicago today are compelled to face the fact that inside of eighteen years they are all supposed to be dead.

They were told this at a meeting of the directors of the Chicago Public library to discuss the extension of the Memorial association's lease of Grand Army memorial hall. The present lease extends to 1928, but members of the association asked for an extension of twenty years. Frederick H. Lawson, a library director, gave the old veterans food for thought when he said:

"By 1928 all the old soldiers will be gone. We are required to maintain the hall as a memorial, but we are not obliged to turn it over to any one association to whom the living members of the G. A. R. may have assigned it, after they are dead. When the present lease expires it will be time enough to consider a new one."

INSANE MOTHER KILLS DAUGHTER

Mother Is Sent to Asylum After Attacking Her Children.

Akron, O., April 12.—Margaret, two-year-old daughter of Rosa Marquardt, twenty, of No. 608 Kling street, adjudged insane in probate court late Monday afternoon and sent to the Massillon insane asylum after she had attacked her two young children with a club, died in the City hospital today.

The other child, a younger son, was struck over the head and is in a critical condition. The father of the children is Otto Marquardt, a brewery worker. His mother, a neighbor, entered the home Monday afternoon and found the children unconscious with their mother still holding the club with which she had struck them.

A SECOND-TERM BOOM FOR TAFT

Is Started by Attorney General Wickersham,

BEFORE LEAVING CHICAGO TODAY

Has Good News To Carry Back to President

Wickersham States That He Will Tell the President That He Does Not Believe That the Republican Party Will Be Split by the Insurgent Movement in the West Gives His Reasons for So Telling

Chicago April 11 — There is certainty that before Mr Taft's term expires new questions of great importance some of which I have in mind will develop and demand disposition Under such circumstances there would or might arise the desirability of another term for the present executive

This is the way Attorney General George W Wickersham started a second term boom for President Taft just before he departed for Washington

The attorney general added that he intended to tell the chief executive that the insurgent movement in the West would not result in a party split

While I have no disposition to decide or underestimate the strength and sincerity of the insurgent movement still I will be able to tell President Taft good news Wickersham said That is I do not believe the Republican party is to be split by the divergence over the Ballinger or other policies

Misunderstandings and lack of information are still prevalent Party leaders will rectify this Other members of the president's cabinet than myself will make addresses presenting the facts to the people and it is my prediction that the party will benefit and the insurgent sentiment will subside

Mr Wickersham declined to discuss Senator Aldrich or Speaker Cannon, except to say that the speaker's actions were a reflection of the sentiment of the majority of the house

PROVES HERO IN FACE OF DEATH

Engineer Mahoney Sacrifices Life for Passengers

AFTER RUNNING PAST RED BLOCK

Sticks to Post and Reverses His Engine

Ft. Fast Passenger No. 41 of the Columbus Division Compelled to Pass a Gaboon by Wreck Near Delaware Collides with Fast Freight and Is Wrecked a Quarter of a Mile East of Caledonia

Ft. Fast passenger train No. 41 on Columbus Cleveland division running by way of Marion is due at Marion at 1 o'clock noon. Delaware and Marion report of an extra passenger train a short distance east of Caledonia Saturday at 10 o'clock. Fifteen minutes Edward Mahoney used for this run of Cleveland engine number 1 with mail car spinning behind it, two coaches and a baggage car and a combination passenger and baggage car, all bound for Cleveland.

The collision is alleged to be due to the neglect of the dead engineer who is blamed by Operator Peter Weidamier at Marion for having passed block and dashed to his death in the wake of the fast freight train which had passed through Marion only a few minutes before under the same number.

That nobody else was killed or seriously injured is declared to be almost miraculous by the trainmen of the freight and passenger trains.

No Time for Warning

The only person to see Harry Wells of Galion who was sent back by the condition of the freight to flag the passenger. He declared that he had no time to warn the passenger engineer as the mammoth engine was almost upon the freight when he started back to give the signal.

Fireman Hugh Dolan of Cleveland who narrowly escaped death in the cab of the passenger locomotive says he did not see the freight and has no idea how he escaped being killed. When the crash came he was shocked by being knocked against the tender. He said to the porter to the Star at Caledonia that morning: "I just rolled out and got away with a few scratches on my wrist." He extended his left hand to show the slight cuts.

Hears Mahoney Shout

"I heard Ed my engineer shout something and then came the awful thud," continued the fireman. "Ed didn't have time to leave his seat. So he reversed his engine and put her on center.

"As soon as the shock was over I crawled from the debris and started to walk away from the wreck when he fell dead was denied by the fireman. "Ed was instantly killed I think," he said. "His heart was almost crushed out of him. I couldn't say whether the block at Marion was red or green but I think it was green. I was on his right side."

Operator Weidamier aroused from his sleep at his home at Marion by a Star reporter said:

"I still dream of it, but I know that the engineer had his block and ought to have stopped. I think that he possibly saw the order signal and thought everything was all right. I was a few rods from him and he was running forty-five or fifty miles an hour when he went through Marion which is about four miles from the place where the wreck occurred.

Forty-Five Miles an Hour

Fireman Wells says that he put water into the engine only five miles an hour when the collision came. The force of the crash was noted by a number of people at Caledonia and within a short time half a dozen wrecking crews were at the scene.

Inquiry among the excited passengers many of whom were hurled from their seats disclosed that none had been injured. All complained of being badly jolted. Due to a panic the sleeper complained more of being taken up than the passengers in the coaches.

The huge passenger engine was demolished and hurled half way down the embankment.

Mail Clerks Penned In

The mail coach adjoining was badly but the four mail clerks in it escaped by chopping their way out of a side door which was free from the outside. Fire from the engine broke through but the mail clerks quickly smothered. The mail clerks were Frank Wharton of Galion and C. A. Hinkle of Cincinnati and G. H. Coulson of Cleveland.

Three hundred sacks of mail were taken from the coach and piled at the south side of the Big Four track. The sacks were guarded by the four mail clerks who upon learning of the wreck hurried to the scene. Those who came from Marion Caledonia Mount Gilead and the main county seat all brought wrecking outfits to assist the crew in getting the mail out.

Just as the last mail sack was being carried from the wreck the fireman stopped and, at the point of a gun, forced by Operator Otto Schlemmer of Galion. The train had scarcely come to a standstill before the wrecking crew arrived. Wells, being entirely unstrung by the accident, was sent back to Marion on the next train.

Track Is Cleared

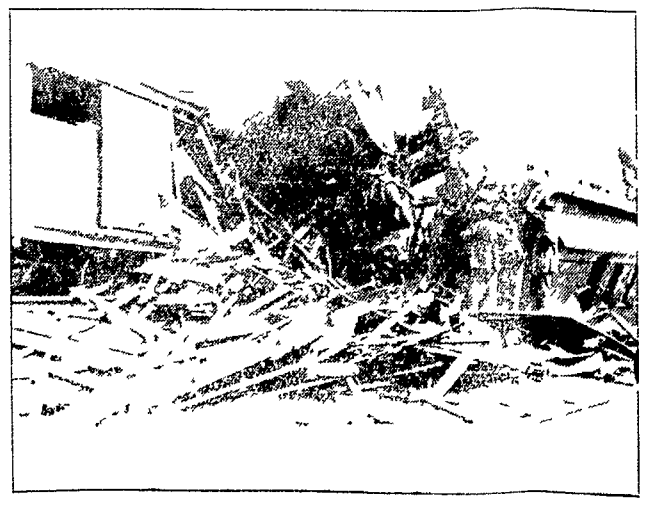
Shortly after noon, Saturday, the wreck was sufficiently cleared away to permit the Big Four to run its trains around the wreck. Two passenger trains were held at Marion for a short time, but all trains between Marion and Galion were delayed only a few minutes.

When the Star left the scene Saturday morning, hundreds of people had gathered to watch the wreckers. All of the excitement was so great that it was hard at first to find some who still talk intelligently of the wreck. The trainmen were reticent and it was with considerable difficulty that they finally were induced to talk. One young lady from Marion flashed his pass and refused to talk. The first trainman he met and the result was that soon all of the railroad men.

When the Mission operating men and women in the city rushed to the scene in autos. Many of them were there. After being assured that they were not needed they returned to the city.

Body Taken to Morgue

Mahoney's body was taken to the undertaking rooms of Hinkle & Hinkle on West Center street. It was badly mangled. It will be shipped to Cleveland this afternoon.



VIEW OF WRECK AT CALEDONIA
Showing the Position in Which Both Passenger and Freight Train

No Pilot Aboard

Although Fireman Wells knows that he will never have occasion to do it, the Big Four engineers have a company rule by which a pilot is required to ride on all engines when they are running over the Marion division without a pilot. You will recall the case of the passenger train running into a pile of ties at Galion a few months ago. This simple rule says he cannot understand why Big Four engineer passed the block at Marion without stopping. He said that he would have to see the flagman's signal along with the other signals before he would pass.

The engineer is said to have been looking out for any train that might be coming, rather than watching for signals.

Fireman Wells says he did not have time to warn the engineer that a train was coming, which was the reason why Mahoney could not have prevented him from seeing the block. He says that the Big Four, with railroad rules requiring this, assisted.

The fact that the fast freight train had been given the right of way and failed to pull out was the crash time and remedy against Big Four engineer Mahoney who is believed to have been instantly killed when he ran into the open switch on West Ninety Seventh street in Cleveland Friday.

Coroner W. H. Lindhorst states that he will hold an inquest as to the death of the engineer. When little Maud Perkins was killed at the Oak street crossing several weeks ago the coroner held an inquest and rendered a verdict but Prosecuting Attorney Charles S. Fusselman said that he was not entitled to do so for the reason that several people were killed in the tragedy and it was not a coroner's case. The coroner says there are two witnesses to the wreck and that he will not render a verdict for that reason.

We could build it in the woods near the home and give the patients the open air treatment declared Superintendent Pader Something ought to be done

The commissioners are inclined to look upon the project with favor In reply to a question asked by Commissioner A H Frost Superintendent Pader said that the building could be erected and equipped for about $3 000 It would be known as the tuberculosis hospital

At present the county has no place to provide for indigent victims of the white plague as demonstrated several months ago when it was found necessary for the infirmary directors to rent a small isolated building near Marion and care for a colored girl named Thornton She died of the disease

One inmate of the infirmary is dying of tuberculosis and her case is said by the authorities to be one of the worst they have ever seen Inmates have died from the dread and disease from time to time and aroused to the danger of it being communicated to others the superintendent and the infirmary directors are anxious that the county make provision for the proper care of tuberculosis victims without delay

HIGH TRIBUTE PAID TO WORK OF A MARION BOY

Critics Speak Highly of Book of Professor Fite

"Social and Industrial Conditions in the North During the Civil War Is Held To Be Out of the Usual Run and Very Interesting.

Professor Emerson D Fite of Yale son of Mrs Samuel Fite of east Center street has written a book which is causing much comment among critics Mr Fite was born and raised in Marion and is well known here His book bears the rather long title Social and Industrial Conditions in the North During the Civil War and is declared by critics not alone unusual but interesting and full of merit

The critic of the New York Evening Mail in reviewing the work says

When a man does a book what no one has done before him and does it well his effort is entitled to notice and high commendation He is especially to be praised when his book is intrinsically interesting This is the case with the valuable and instructive volume by Professor Fite of Yale We have had all out of histories of the war but no one has before attempted with enough study in the careful print of the material and moral addition of the people in the local cities through the war and is the result of the war

The review then proceeds to a consideration of a number of the facts brought forward by Professor Fite to how that more than any other war and it bears out the attention of the people in the North in the years 1861 1865 On each the most conclusive and startling of these arguments in the following

It is one of the strange phenomena of history that the United States produced not only enough wheat during the war but more for Europe during the war years than the whole country had exported before For the seven years preceding the war the United States had sent to foreign countries 60 000 bushels of wheat annually but the second year of the war the exportation reached 1 0 bushels

There is a thesis and interesting upon northern life in the civil war and Fite of the administration in the

SPECIAL WORK FOR CENSUS BUREAU

On the first of April Assistant Director Steuart will have the final instructions relative to the census work and will give out the blanks to be used by Mr Smiley This will start the ball rolling

A CENSUS SUPERVISOR GIVES SOME POINTERS

The Census Will Not Be Without Many Oddities

USUAL PLACE OF ABODE IS WHERE YOU SLEEP

Babies Born After April 15 Will Not Be Counted in This Census—Visitors Boarders Students and Merchants Listed as Transients—The Census Taking No Snap

Having had a number of years experience in census taking Supervisor Maxwell of the Marion district has issued a number of instructions to enumerators in this district which will be helpful to the people in general in the taking of the census Supervisor Maxwell says that the object of the census taking is to find out the number of people in the United States and the object of the census taking is to find out the number of people in the United States so that the government may be properly represented in congress and the state legislatures and that the money appropriated for various purposes may be distributed on a per capita basis

The new will not be with us at this time Here are some of the questions

Babies Born After April 15 Will Not Be Counted

Babies born after April 15 will not be counted in this census Neither will people who may die after that date be counted in the census that is persons who may be living on April 15 will be regarded as still living for the next census so far as the government is concerned Then too married people who become separated either by death or by divorce must become so before that fateful day if they or their friends or families want them to be recorded as widows widowers or divorced persons

The enumerator and the census woman will enumerate you at your usual place of abode Your usual place of abode according to the census rules is where you sleep not where you eat or work Of course this rule has its exception If you are a commercial traveler you will not be enumerated as permanently residing at the place of passing slumber

In the hotels transients the government includes visitors temporary boarders students meal takers who keep elsewhere and former family members who have become permanent inmates of asylums poorhouses and prisons

People temporarily absent from their regular sleeping places April 15 will be enumerated at these places when properly vouched for Servants and laborers who live in their employers homes will be enrolled as living there

It will be no snap to take the census but Supervisor Maxwell says that he has not been handicapped in any way by lack of appropriations willing to tackle the job

NOTHING IN THE STORY OF ANY LEPROSY CASES

So Far as They Apply to City of Marion

Stories to the Effect That There Are Such Cases in Surrounding Towns and Cities May Be Responsible for Such Stories Here

Persistent reports that Marion has two cases of leprosy have caused considerable alarm among local people generally during the past week To our own mind there has been absolutely no foundation for the reports and practically all of those that they had heard such reports and many but did not know of any such cases

It is understood that there are a number of cases of leprosy in some of the surrounding cities and towns but that Cleveland has many cases of that nature is apart from the point at issue There was a report to the effect that a leper had been found in the Erie depot in this city and that the health officers had taken charge of the case but this report was found to be without foundation

The health officers and others have been in consultation with the state board of health relative to the matter and it is the opinion of those who have investigated the reports that there is no cause for alarm in Marion
